
Top 8 Data Management Trends in 2021

1. Streaming data will become an indispensable part of business processes

2. IT strategies will focus on data-driven automation for AIOps

3. New tools will be needed to monitor cloud computing performance

4. Next-generation choices of data platforms will continuously expand

5. Companies will continue adjusting to data regulations

6. Data will emerge and spread in many new places

7. The data business will become a significant sector of the global economy

8. Synthetic data will give data a new dimension of growth

